Bramer keeps it classy — and classical

Before I get into this week's profile I want to talk about what's been going on lately at Red Bicycle Hall. Full disclosure, I am one of the owners of The Bike, but that doesn't alter the importance of its impact on our local music scene.

CHARLIE'S BEAT

Last weekend we had a show produced by local music aficionado David Richards, and it was amazing. David travels all over the region attending shows and festivals, and then he brings what he considers the best undiscovered talent back to Madison to share with his friends. If you see "A David Richard Production" you should take notice and attend. You won't regret it.

Jefferson COVID-19 status back in the 'red'

Death toll reaches 124; more schools go to virtual learning

BY MARK CAMPBELL

A high number of coronavirus positive cases in Jefferson County has pushed the county's COVID-19 metric back into the "red" — and led several schools to switch to virtual meaning — after a couple of weeks in the "orange."

On Tuesday, it was announced that Southwestern Schools were all switching to virtual learning through Friday before returning to in-person instruction on Monday. Previously, Madison Consolidated High School, E.O. Muncie Junior-Senior High School, Madison Junior High School, Anderson Elementary School and Lydia Middleton Elementary School wall switched to virtual classes through the end of this week.

Council hears findings from downtown parking study

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison City Council heard the findings of a monthslong, downtown parking study Tuesday and the overall message is that the city has more parking than most people realize but there could be better management of those spaces.

Kevin Senninger, a planner with HWC Engineering of Indianapolis, summarized the 75-page report based on hours of drone footage and days of interpretation after the city's Redevelopment Commission allocated just shy of $50,000 last year to hire the firm to evaluate parking demands and resources in the central business district corridor.

Senninger said the area was found to include 1,603 total parking spaces with 967 on street and 636 off street. Of that total, 245 are located in city lots and 391 in private or other governmental lots. On the October 2021 weekend of the study, there was a 45% average utilization rate Thursday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Senninger noted that the central core of the downtown business district had the highest

HMI lot to add to green space on Vaughn Drive

Historic Madison Inc. is deeding a .75-acre wooded lot to the City of Madison along Poplar Street between First Street and Vaughn Drive (defined by yellow box). The property, located between Kiwanis Park to the west and Bicentennial Park to the east overlooking the Ohio River, will be cleaned up and preserved as green space.

Historic Madison Inc. deeds .75-acre lot to the city

BY BOB DEMAREE

An agreement finalizing the transfer of a Historic Madison Inc. lot just east of Poplar Street and across from the Shrewsbury-Windle Home to the City of Madison was approved during Tuesday's meeting of the Madison Board of Public Works and Safety.

The .75-acre site, located just north of the city parking lot between Kiwanis and Bicentennial parks, is a wooded area that still has the foundation of a building that stood on the site many years ago. Mayor Madison Bob Courtney said the city's plans are to turn the property into an attractive green space while adding to the city's investment along that corridor and Vaughn Drive.

"The original idea was that could be transformed into a parking area," said John Staicer, executive director of Historic Madison Inc., but after doing a study the cost came back "way too high."

The city and HMI reached an agreement in July of 2019 in which there would be a new parking lot, and a pocket park. Following reevaluation, Monday's action amends that with the city building a sidewalk along Poplar Street from the city parking lot while also creating access at the south lawn of the Shrewsbury-Windle House.

"This is a good solution," said Courtney, noting it emphasizes the economic development plans for Bicentennial Park and for the parking lot south of there at the corner of Poplar Street and Vaughn Drive. "It's going

Denial of ash pond extension causes uncertainty for Clifty Creek

Mark Campbell

BY BOB DEMAREE

An announcement that the Environmental Protection Agency is taking action to address unlined and potentially leaking coal ash ponds at coal-burning power plants in four states could lead to some uncertainty about the future of the Clifty Creek Generating Station in Madison.

"There's been a lot of speculation but there's no new update," said Scott Blake, a spokesman for American Electric Power, which he said has the largest percentage of ownership in a consortium of power facilities including Ohio Valley Electric Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiary, Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corporation.

On Jan. 11, Barry N. Breen, acting assistant administrator for the Office of Land and Emergency Management, signed a notice for a proposed denial of an alternative closure deadline for coal ash pits at the Clifty Creek Power Station. The EPA's notice states that IKEC had filed an extension on April 11, 2021 asking for an extension of a proposed closure of the Madison plant's West Boiler Slag Pond on Dec. 5 and a Landfill Runoff Collection Pond on April 23, 2023.

Blake said the issue is currently in a comment period from Jan. 25 to Feb. 23 in which the utility may respond and make its case on how it is addressing issues outlined by the Environmental Protection Agency. Once comments are submitted, Blake said there's no certainty on how long it will take for the EPA to respond.

Blake also said "no decision" has been made by American Electric Power on the future of the Madison plant if the coal ash pit closure does go into effect.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

Mrs. Bernice Ilene Sage Coppage

Mrs. Bernice Ilene Sage Coppage, age 89, of Madison, Indiana was born on May 16, 1932 in the tiny town of Wakefield, Indiana in rural Jefferson County. She was the third child and first daughter born to Robert William, Sr., and Belle Smith Sage. Bernice was the first Sage girl born in a hundred years and kinfolk came from different states to see her. At about the age of nine, she went to live with her grandmother Smith who had a bad heart and her uncle Ray Smith. She thought this would be for the summer, but she lived there until she was married. She helped her grandmother can fruits and vegetables, clean meat and cared for her uncle's rabbits, brought in wood for the wood stove, while going to school at Fort Donaldson School house, which lay between her parent's and grandparents' home. In July 1947, Bernice would meet her true love, Jack Kober Coppage, at a Veteran of Foreign Wars picnic where she had gone to with her Uncle Ray Smith, a World War One veteran. Jack saw her and asked to be introduced, which would lead to their marriage on August 27, 1948. They were married in a simple ceremony that united them for the next 57 years. For a time, they lived with Jack's parents on Third Street until they bought a home on Main Street, about a block away. While there, Bernice worked at Wetzel Drug Store which later became Perry & Dunbar. Bernice and Jack began their family with a daughter, Sheryl, and then a son, Pat. Five years later, another daughter, Pam and the following year a second son, Kevin. In 1961, while pregnant with their last child, a boy, Tommy Joe, they moved to the Mulberry Street Home, where they resided the rest of their lives. Bernice was very active in the American Red Cross, the American Legion Auxiliary, helping and setting up rummage sales, picnics, and blood drives. She also served as the American Legion Auxiliary president and was a devoted member for over 60 years. After the 1974 Tornado, Bernice helped with the donations which were brought to the Armory in downtown Madison. As well as being patriotic, Bernice was proud of her service veterans, including her husband, all of her brothers, her brother in law and one sister in law, sons, grandsons, and nephews. Bernice always tried to make the dollars stretch and make good meals for her family of seven. One time, a cousin told her that she could have all the corn she could pick, for free. So she took her family of seven to pick corn, which was then taken back home, shucked and canned. She also cleaned deer, turtle, chickens, fish, and whatever that did not run away fast enough. She had a deal where Bill Thompson would bring her fish. Bill caught the fish, Bernice cleaned them and she got to keep half of them. She and Jack enjoyed many a platter full of fish this way. Bernice and Jack also loved gooseberries and persimmons, which she canned or made into bread, cake or cookies. Years ago, when a private contractor put a new roof on their home, she fixed the crew lunch every day, which the crew really appreciated. Bernice would always laugh at Jack because he was afraid of spiders, and would kill them many times over. She would give the spiders names, as well as all of the cars they bought, cats and dogs, birds, squirrels, and snakes. After her five children were grown, Bernice would bake birthday cakes for her family and fix Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner with more than twenty family members to feed. She loved to make her own clothes, knit, crochet, playing cribbage with Jack, watching "Wheel of Fortune", "Jeopardy", going to yard sales, reading voraciously over a hundred books a year, and loved the color red. Although she did not get to graduate school, she would have been a good contestant for "Jeopardy", getting so few answers ever wrong. She was proud of her collection of over a thousand cookie jars. Bernice passed from this life on Thursday, December 30, 2021 at 9:39 p.m. at her home on Mulberry Street in downtown Madison.

A LOVING FAMILY

Bernice will be missed by her daughters, Sheryl Backus and her husband, Rick of Madison, Indiana, Pam Coker and her husband, Kenny of Madison, Indiana; her sons, Patrick "Pat" Coppage and his fiancee, Tammy of Hanover, Indiana, Tom Coppage and his wife, Lanee of Kent, Indiana; her grandchildren, Pam, Bobby, Kenny, Paul, Jennifer, Jack, Jamie, Tara, and Alisha; her great grandchildren, Mike, Bobby Jr., Bryce, Braden, Collarre, Serina, Jaylin, Camilla, David, Hunter, Lincoln~~, Adalind, Jordan, Courtney~~, Brock, and Faith; her great great grandson, Alexander; many nieces, nephews, and her extended family and friends. She was preceded in death by her father, Robert William Sage, Sr., died July 7, 1978, her mother, Belle Smith Sage, died May 16, 1995, her husband of 57 years, Jack Kober Coppage, died October 13, 2005, her son, Paul Kevin Coppage, Sr., died September 25, 2020, her sisters, Edith Mikesell, Edna May Williams, Ruth Ellen Sage, and Mary Sage Barrett, her brothers, George Sage, Robert Sage, Sr., David Sage, Harold "Jim" Sage, and Ivan Lester Sage.

Oak Hill neighborhood upgrades to cost $1.5M

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison's Board of Public Works and Safety approved a $1.5 million bid that will remake streets and sidewalks in the Oak Hill neighborhood on Madison's hilltop and include an upgrade to the area's park.

Work is likely to begin in April on a contract that was awarded to All-Star Paving of Seymour, the lowest bidder at $1,534,552.17, on Monday and will include newly paved streets, curbs and gutters as well as ADA-approved sidewalks and upgrades to the park.

Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee said five bids were received with "quite a variance in the amount of the bids we received" with one at $2.5 million and another at $2.6 million.

McGee cited several reasons for All-Star's lower bid, particularly in that it was significantly lower than others received. "They will do all of their work; there will be no sub-contractors," she said, adding "they caught some things in the bid specs that some of the other companies did not."

McGee said All-Star "charged very little for its mobilization and demobilization" and that's because all of the work will be in one location. "When they're doing work all over town they're picking up equipment, and moving it and removing it. So those charges can get quite high, but with this job because we're doing this project all in one neighborhood, they're going to show up, put their equipment in place, and they won't have to move it again until they're done with the job."

Additionally, she said All-Star Paving had a lower charge on traffic control since the site is in a confined neighborhood where there are no multiple lanes of traffic to manage.

Another factor is All-Star Paving recently purchased a new piece of equipment "that will help them with the installation of sidewalks, concrete, curbs and gutters" by allowing them to do the contract much faster and less expense. Because the city is doing a full sidewalk, gutter, curb replacement in this project, she said the concrete is handled as part of the whole effort, rather than separately.

McGee said the bid was reviewed by the city's engineers, Kenny Washer of the street department and Joe Jenner, the city's attorney, and all felt that it met the criteria for the work.

The Oak Hill area was selected for use of the city's Community Crossing grant money after data collected determined that the neighborhood's streets and sidewalks were most in need of improvement.

McGee said "for people in this neighborhood, it's been a neglected neighborhood from an infrastructure standpoint for a long time, so they will have all new roads, gutters, curbs, sidewalks" with all sidewalk corners ADA compliant. Additionally, she said there may be improvements in the neighborhood's park.

Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee said "for people in this neighborhood, it's been a neglected neighborhood from an infrastructure standpoint for a long time, so they will have all new roads, gutters, curbs, sidewalks" with all sidewalk corners ADA compliant. Additionally, she said there may be improvements in the neighborhood's park.

McGee said all driveways will have new approaches — there are drainage issues with many of the current driveways — and the "driveway approaches will be designed correctly" to provide proper flow of water, she said.

McGee said the project also benefits the city by being done in the most cost effective way possible. "Having one location to have the contractor come in and drop their equipment" then stay in one place has provided a means for the city to get more done for less cost, she said. The city had received a $957,000 Community Crossings grant last year, which McGee noted that if it had come in higher, it likely would have required all of the city's match dollars. With the bid coming in lower, the city's match will be $767,267, which leaves some money for an additional project to improve the city's infrastructure.

McGee said the city will likely hold a groundbreaking for the project in the spring.

"This is got transformational for that neighborhood," she noted, adding that the work is a long overdue upgrade.

In Loving Memory Of

Kevin C. Behm

Kevin C. Behm, son of Jack and Mary, passed away on January 4, 2022 at Melbourne Beach, Florida. For 25 years, he was Calli's loving husband and the cherished father of Marilyn, Mattie, and Jack. His siblings include Peter (Molly), Michael (Kim), Patrick (Julie), Suzanne Rhoads (Jeff), Ellen Dolphin (Michael), Paul (Peggy), Rose Gantt, Christine Pecoraro (Guilio), and the late Billy Behm. Calli is the daughter of Dutch and Marilyn Kleopfer. Her siblings are Steve (Teri), Jim (Felicia), Lance, Janet (Tom), and Chad (Tami). He was "the fun uncle" to many nieces and nephews.

Kevin graduated from Walsh Jesuit High School and from the University of Cincinnati. While in Cincinnati, he played on the Junior National Rugby Team. He was employed with Sherwin-Williams for over thirty years.

Kevin loved life and lived it passionately with a spirit and zest that is challenging to put on paper. He was a proud Clevelander, showing kindness and joy to all. In the Behm way, Kevin never met a stranger. Even at 57, he was still connected with his inner child. His Irish humor, wit, and playfulness were unique and beyond compare. Kevin had a ferocious curiosity and was unfazed by what others might think. He loved hiking, biking, skiing, golfing and looked for ways to be part of nature wherever he was. He loved to write lyrics to familiar songs to play on his ukulele to sing at special family events.

Kevin leaves behind those who loved him heart-broken but full of gratitude to have had the good fortune to know him. His children have a legacy of love to carry with them as they discover their own paths.

Contributions to honor Kevin should be made to the St. Augustine Hunger Center, 2486 West 14th Street, Cleveland, OH 44113. Donations to Rails to Trails can be made through Facebook at https://www.facebook.com/donate/894224651287531/

A Celebration of Life will be on January 24, 2022 at 2:00 p.m. at the Church of Resurrection in Solon. The family will receive friends at the church beginning at noon.

Drive while high, get a DUI

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: My wife and I recently found out that our 19-year-old son has been smoking pot for about a year. We had been suspicious but didn't have proof until last week. He says that it helps his anxiety (something we didn't know he had), keeps him focused and helps him to have a decent appetite. He insists that it is not addictive, yet he does not want to give it up. He says that he usually smokes it in a remote area and then drives himself to wherever he is going. This is crushing to us on so many levels!

No. 1: We would like to see him deal with his anxiety through some other, safer means (a therapist maybe?); No. 2: He is not legally old enough in our state to have marijuana; No. 3: He insists that he doesn't drive stoned, but it sounds like he has. What if he hurt someone?; No. 4: He has a friend whose sister, just a few years ago, used pot for her anxiety, and when that didn't work, she went to stronger street drugs and eventually overdosed and died. When that happened, we had long talks with our children about drugs, and we thought they were smart enough not to get involved.

We don't know what to do. Right now, we are switching health insurance, so we cannot see a doctor or therapist until he can be added to our new insurance. What should we do? I would love to turn in his supplier to the authorities, but he won't give up the guy's name. Any suggestions? — Worried for our Son

Dear Worried: If your son gets pulled over while under the influence of marijuana, he'll get a DUI. And the fact that he's underage could result in high fines or even jail time, depending on state laws. A lot of teenagers are under the impression that driving high isn't an issue, so make sure he's aware of the consequences.

His use of marijuana to self-medicate is a different problem entirely. He needs to address his underlying anxiety issues, rather than mask them with a drug. Contact the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration until you are able to find a good therapist for your son.

Dear Annie: I had a high school boyfriend 47 years ago but left him. He came to my house the day before I was marrying someone else and begged me not to marry him, but I did. Long story short, after getting divorced, I tried to find him, but I couldn't. I married again and got divorced again. I then focused on trying to find him again only to find out he's been dead since 2007. I don't know how to process my guilt and grief and wondering what might have been. He never got married nor had any kids. Missing him after all these years. — Nostalgic and Regretful

Dear Nostalgic and Regretful: It's easy to romanticize the things we don't have, the relationships that could have been, the ones who got away. But think back to 47 years ago: There was a reason you left him. There was a reason you married someone else. You did the best you could with the information you had. Stop beating yourself up.

Can I cut out my brother?

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I spent my early childhood years with a loving foster family, and today, at age 75, I have a great relationship with my foster brother.

I lived with my biological family from age 7 until I left for college. I have one biological brother, and long story short, we are not close.

Today, I can hardly stand him or his family. He brags incessantly. He's thoughtless, snobby, self-centered, condescending, materialistic and does nothing for anyone unless there is something in it for him. He and his wife seem to take pleasure in hurling insults at our children and their families and asking rude, intrusive questions.

My husband, children and I want no contact with him or his family. We stopped initiating contact with them several years ago. We didn't make any "proclamation"; we just stopped contacting them, and they didn't seem to notice until recently.

We have not answered their calls and don't want to. We feel we should, at this time in our lives, not have to deal with them. And yet, maybe I should speak to my brother, at the very least. I have no idea what to say. Since this man does not listen to my remarks, it will have to be brief.

But again, we want no relationship with these people. — No Contact Wanted

Dear No Contact: Ghosting a date is one thing, but ghosting your own brother?

Bottom line is that it's not fair to cut him out without an explanation. Tell him the ways in which you feel hurt by his behavior. If he cares enough to listen, perhaps the two of you can visit a family therapist to get your relationship back on track. If he doesn't, then your children are probably better off without the insults and intrusive questioning.

Dear Annie: I want to start online dating again. I'm a 32-year-old woman who has a history of online dating, and in my profile, I was always honest — maybe too honest — about myself. The problem is I have a speech impediment. Some say it sounds like an accent with a mixture of Elmer Fudd. My pronunciation of certain words is horrible. My question is, should I put that I have a speech impediment on my profile or wait till a match gets to know me more and then tell them?

When I used to date, I would mention it in my profile, and I would always attract the wrong guys: guys who will take advantage of my biggest insecurities and the judgmental type, too. A part of me wants to be honest upfront, but then the other part feels they need to gain my trust first. I'm feeling torn on what to do. Any advice? — Speed Bump in My Speech

Dear Speed Bump: Your dating profile doesn't need to be an exhaustive picture of yourself. Instead of thinking about what you should include, think about what you want to share about yourself with a potential match. There are countless qualities and experiences that define who you are, and your speech impediment isn't one of them.

Most importantly, remember that the right guy for you will only care about what you have to say, not how it sounds when you say it.

to be a win-win for the whole community, and for that area," he said.

While the agreement does provide for sidewalks and designated parking for Historic Madison, Courtney said "more importantly it takes a parcel that we can now clean up and use as green space, and improve the look of that whole corridor."

Staicer agreed, "It's great for the local property owners" in that their property values will go up," and it will also be an improvement for the Shrewsbury-Windle House, which Staicer noted is a National Historic Landmark that recently underwent an award-winning restoration.

"It's all a part of improving that whole area, and ties into the riverfront development, ties in with our plans for the area, so it is a win-win," Staicer said.

Courtney said the proposal also meshes with the recent move of the HMI offices into the Talbott-Hyatt House, along with the improvements to other properties that are bettering that area. "When we invest, others invest, they see how important it is," he said adding "investment is contagious, and we're doing some great things, and property values rise."

Staicer said that particular lot was part of a plan John Windle, founder of Historic Madison Inc., had "dreamed up in the late 1950s or early 1960s.

"We found a sketch of that whole neighborhood that he had drawn up," Staicer said, noting the plan included the Talbott-Hyatt House, the Jeremiah Sullivan House, the Shrewsbury-Windle House and that lot, which Staicer said the Windles didn't even own in the early 1960s. "This is a dream that's been going on for 60 years. It's really cool to see this finally coming to fruition."

Staicer said in the 1850s there was a planing mill on the lot and the last business there was in the 1950s, which he said was the Hill Boat Shop where wooden boats and water skis were made. "That building burned in the late 1950s," said Staicer, noting the foundation that remains is from that building.

Board member David Carlow noted that curbs and stone gutters line both sides of Poplar Street between First Street and Vaughn Drive, which will be retained, along with the rock wall and foundation.

"A lot of that history that's obscured is now going to be brought out, and that's excites me the most with the beautiful walls, and the remaining foundation there," along with the stone gutters. "I'm excited about it," said Courtney.

Meanwhile, one new death was reported in Jefferson County, increasing the county's overall death toll to 124. On Tuesday, Jefferson County had 113 new positive cases of COVID-19, increasing the overall total to 7,663. The county's positivity rate is 24.8%.

There were no new deaths reported in Carroll (38), Trimble (30) and Switzerland (14) counties but plenty of new positive cases.

Carroll County had 36 new cases of COVID-19 for a total to 2,841 during the pandemic and the county's positivity rate is currently 37.15%. Switzerland County had 30 new cases of COVID-19 for 1,924 overall and a current positivity rate of 27.5%. Trimble County had 25 new cases for 1,789 overall and a current positivity rate of 45.85%.

Andy Beshear announced that last Saturday's total of 14,896 new positive cases was the state's highest day ever and Tuesday's positivity rate of 30.25% was the highest ever.

"The increase in cases is severe, by far more than any other surge we've had," said Beshear.

Kentucky also reported 72,165 new COVID-19 cases the week ending Jan. 16, the highest week ever. This new record surpasses the second-highest week by nearly 20,000 cases (Jan. 3 through Jan. 9: 52,603 cases) and the third-highest week by nearly 40,000 cases (Aug. 30 through Sept. 5: 30,680 cases).

With Jefferson County now back in the "red" Jefferson County High Department recommends universal masking for all individuals in indoor settings regardless of vaccination status and gathering only with those outside your immediate household, and avoiding crowded places. JCHD is reporting no group setting outbreaks at this time.

Due to a national shortage of rapid antigen test, Indiana Department of Health has now depleted its last shipment. Indiana Department of Health is pursuing every avenue to secure more rapid tests. PCR tests are available and results are back within 24 to 48 hours. If sick, residents should seek testing right away and stay away from others until results are known. Free testing is available at the Jefferson County Community Testing Site located at Norton King's Daughters' Health Convenient Care, 445 Clifty Drive, Madison, or by visiting www.coronavirus.in.gov

Americans will be able to order free at-home, rapid COVID-19 tests delivered to their home beginning Wednesday, Jan. 19. The tests can be ordered by visiting www.covidtests.gov. Tests will typically ship in 7 to 12 days of ordering. Private health insurance companies are required to cover at-home COVID-19 tests but individuals should check with their private insurance for information.

The Jefferson County Health Department urges all Jefferson County residents and visitors to get vaccinated against COVID-19. To schedule a COVID vaccine, visit www.ourshot.in.gov. Walk-ins are welcome at 715 Green Road, Madison, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. All three vaccines are available — Pfizer, Moderna, and Johnson and Johnson — but individuals age 12-17 must receive Pfizer vaccine and have an adult present.

DENIAL

"These are complex issues and topics," said Blake, noting that it took several months for IKEC to receive last week's notification of the proposed decision. "We don't know how long it will take for them to evaluate and make a decision. A lot of the timeline is fluid at this point," he said. "We will show them a plan that we are putting forth" that "remedies are underway" as they work to satisfy the concerns by the EPA.

In addition to the notice sent to Clifty Creek, the Associated Press reported last week that separate letters of denial were sent to the James M. Gavin plant in Cheshire, Ohio, and the Ottumwa plant in Ottumwa Iowa. The H.L. Spurlock plant in Maysville, Kentucky, will be required to fix groundwater monitoring as a condition for continued operation of its coal ash pond, the EPA said.

The actions mark the first time the EPA has enforced a 2015 rule aimed at reducing groundwater pollution from coal-fired power plants that has contaminated streams, lakes and underground aquifers. Coal ash, the substance that remains when coal is burned to generate electricity, contains a toxic mix of mercury, cadmium, arsenic and other heavy metals, and has been cited for polluting waterways, poisoning wildlife and causing respiratory illness among those living near massive ponds where the waste is stored.

Last week, EPA Administrator Michael Regan cited the importance of ensuring that coal ash ponds meet strong environmental and safety standards and that operators of industrial facilities are held accountable. "I've seen firsthand how coal ash contamination can hurt people and communities," said Regan, a former North Carolina environmental regulator who negotiated with Duke Energy what state officials say was the largest cleanup agreement for toxic coal ash. For too long, communities already disproportionately impacted by high levels of pollution have been burdened by improper coal ash disposal," Regan said.

The EPA on Tuesday reiterated its "consistently held position that surface impoundments or landfills cannot be closed with coal ash in contact with groundwater." Limiting contact between coal ash and groundwater after closure is critical to minimizing contaminants released into the environment and will help ensure communities near the sites have access to safe water for drinking and recreation, the EPA said.

Michelle Bloodworth, president and CEO of America's Power, a trade association that represents coal-fired utilities, said the group was reviewing the EPA's announcement. "On its face it doesn't make sense to shut down prematurely coal plants that provide the security of on-site fuel storage or serve as an alternative when prices of natural gas and other sources spike" or are not available, she said.

CLASSICAL

The other producing entity bringing great original music to our town is the Kindred Folk Society. This offshoot from the now defunct RiverRoots Festival continues to identify and bring to town some of the coolest and best from the folk/Americana circuit to Madison. This Friday's show at Red Bicycle Hall with the Wayne Graham Band will be no exception. Take a chance and buy a ticket!

Now, about Meg Bramer, the topic of this week's column. Back in November when Camille Fife held her Ohio Theater benefit show at the new Fairfield Inn ballroom, I was pleased to see that I knew every single musician on the roster. Except one. Who is this cellist Meg Bramer, and what's her story?

As it turns out, she's been here a long time and is very involved in the local music scene giving lessons and collaborating with our more classical performers. I just hadn't personally had the pleasure yet. Just goes to show how deep and varied our talent pool is.

Meg's husband (County Commissioner Dave Bramer, a musician himself, who occasionally sits in with the Southwestern pep band) took a job with Dow Chemical some 30 years ago after retiring from the military, and they settled down in Hanover. Prior to moving here Meg was a music educator at the grade school and high school levels, and has since continued that passion as a substitute and assistant band director at Southwestern.

Meg was fortunate to attend a school with an excellent orchestra and band program in the Philadelphia area. She learned cello and French horn from an early age, and then unlike most of us who laid down our band instruments after high school, she continued and advanced her skills. She majored in music education in college and played in madrigals, quartets and orchestra.

Today Meg gives private lessons out of Ghost Note Music, which is on Wilson Avenue near the high school. She teaches strings, of course, but also teaches woodwinds like saxophone and flute, plus the French horn. "There are surprisingly a lot of string players in the area," relates Meg. "I have 15 string students, with ages ranging from 4 to 78.

"Madison is really unique and different compared to the Philly area where I grew up. We have so many wonderful event spaces, churches with great acoustics, and don't forget the auditoriums at the college.

"I naturally have more of an affinity for the classical music genre, so I'm very appreciative of the concerts put on by the Madison Performing Arts Foundation. They are always excellent.

"And then when you look at some of the top level musicians we have right here in our community, like Starly Raley, Brook Reindollar and Yvonne Davis, it's very rewarding to perform and have such long-lasting relationships with so many great people."

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

If you enjoyed the above article about one of our resident classical musicians, then you might also be interested in the concert on Saturday at First Christian Church in downtown Madison. It's another outstanding offering from the Madison Performing Arts Foundation, and as always, it's a ticketless event (that means free to the public.) Andrew Winner is a classical guitarist and I checked him out online. He is definitely using all 10 fingers all the time when he plays! Very pretty, very emotional and stirring. Should make for an enjoyable evening. The show starts at 7 p.m., so grab some friends and go get some culture, will ya?

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

PARKING

concentration of cars parked — the lot at Poplar and Main streets was the most used at 87% capacity — but the lot at Second and Jefferson streets — the city's largest lot at 84 spaces — was only 20% full. He noted that 85% capacity is generally the target for utilization so that spaces are being used but enough spaces remain open to serve those looking to park.

In key findings, Senninger said Madison has "sufficient capacity" to handle most of its parking needs but the "central core approaches capacity at peak times" so the city needs to develop better and more consistently marked signage directing visitors to underutilized lots.

"There's available parking within one block," Senninger noted. He said the city does not need to build a parking garage or more surface parking but that better signage and perhaps time limits in some areas could provide more parking and better turnover of spaces.

"We can start with things that don't cost a lot and are more informational," Mayor Bob Courtney said. "There are things we can do to create more capacity without making a multimillion investment."

Courtney noted that Madison has had free and unlimited parking since removing its parking meters many years ago and that sometimes results in less parking for local businesses and the customers and tourists they serve — especially as more and more businesses have located in the downtown area and apartments have been developed in lofts — because some people park vehicles in spaces and don't move them for long periods.

"There's simply no restriction on parking in our community," Courtney added.

Councilmen Curtis Chatham and Dan Dattilo both questioned if there was enough handicapped parking in the target area. Senninger said ADA spaces were not included in the study but Courtney indicated there was enough handicap spaces and more are approved by the city's Board of Public Works and Safety as needed.

Dattilo noted that with the city's landscaping and tree plantings, that some handicap spaces can be difficult to use by vans with side doors for wheelchairs. He also noted that he would have liked the study to include areas around the new Fairfield Inn and Suites by Marriott and the Riverside Terrace Lofts because parking patterns have changed significantly in those areas in the last year.

Courtney noted the data collection area was already quite large but agreed that neighborhoods around those developments are seeing "encroachment of parking issues in areas that had been abandoned buildings."

The next step may be to send the report to the city's traffic committee for additional study or working to develop a consistent sign program at key locations to direct visitors to parking, seeing to it that parking lots are designated on online/satellite mapping programs and updating the city's website with parking information and resources.

In other business, the council approved the transfer of funds in several accounts including an additional $237,479 to the solid waste transfer station to cover expenses not covered by operating revenue during the COVID-19 pandemic and 2021 flashing flooding.

The city allowed free dumping for about 150 tons of trash from the flood — and free trash collection for about 30 homes in the affected area for several months after the flood — as well as accepted additional trash created while residents were home during the COVID-19 shutdown.

Deputy Mayor and Chief of Staff Mindy McGee noted that residents generated significantly more trash and waste during the shutdown because they were spending more time at home, ordering more goods by delivery and engaging in more home improvement projects. All of that combined with having to hire more workers due to a shutdown of the Indiana Department of Correction work program led to higher trash costs, she said.

Chatham asked if is time for Madison to conduct a trash rate study much like has done with water other services. Courtney said the study had already been started but was shelved during the pandemic and flood due to bigger issues. However, he said that with rising costs now exceeding revenues by so much, it is inevitable that a rate study be conducted and adjustments made.

"We have started a rate study but put it on hold," Courtney said, noting that COVID relief money has helped the city cover some of the shortfall. "We're OK now, but none of this is free ... eventually it will have to be addressed."

The Council also approved several board appointments including: Glen Schulte and Teri Adler to the Tree Board; Tracy Wyne to the Public Arts Commission; Lisa Ferguson and Steve O'Rear to the PACE Committee; and the city's Economic Development Director Tony Steinhardt to the Riverfront Alcohol Permit Committee.

The Council also named Ron Bateman as the city's representative on the Jefferson County Board of Tourism.

Carroll boys end 26-game skid

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Carroll County ended its 26-game losing streak with style, hitting 10 3-pointers and leading from start to finish to post a 61-48 win over rival Trimble County in boys basketball on Tuesday in Bedford.

The Panthers entered the game with an 0-15 record this season after finishing off last season by losing their final 11 games. But it didn't take long for Carroll County to establish control in this game to cruise to the win.

Jaxon Hewitt hit three 3-pointers, Kenyion Mumphrey hit a three and Braden Stephenson had a three-point play as Carroll jumped out to a 15-5 lead just over six minutes into the game.

That quick start eventually dissipated as Trimble got its footing. The Raiders closed the gap to 17-10 after the first quarter then used an 8-0 run midway through the second to briefly tie the game 19-19.

But Stephenson's basket with 1:36 left in the half broke the run and Carroll went into the locker room up 22-20.

The Panthers then took control of the game in the third quarter and once again it was the three-ball that fueled Carroll's success. After Trimble pulled to within 34-30 on a Tate Ogburn basket with 2:51 to go in the period, Carroll got five points each from Landon Isaacs and Mumphrey as part of a 10-0 run that gave the Panthers a 44-30 lead.

Stephenson opened the fourth with another 3-pointer to give the Panthers their biggest lead of the night at 47-32 before Trimble began chipping away. A pair of 3-pointers by Ethan Horn and two free throws from James Thomas Wilcoxson closed the gap to 48-40 with 5:01 to go, but that was as close as the Raiders would get.

Mumphrey ended the threat with his third 3-pointer of the contest, and Stephenson and Isaacs each added baskets as the lead ballooned back to 15 (55-40). Trimble never got within double-digits the rest of the way as Carroll cruised to its first win of the season.

Hewitt hit five 3-pointers overall and led all scorers with 21 points. He was one of four Panthers to reach double-figures in scoring with Stephenson scoring 13 points and Isaacs and Mumphrey adding 12 points each.

Wilcoxson scored 17 points to lead Trimble, which struggled on offense all night and was just 12-for-27 from the free-throw line as a team. Ogburn scored nine points while Horn and Dalton Penick each scored eight.

Carroll County, now 1-15 overall, 1-5 in the North Central Kentucky Conference and 1-4 in 31st District play, hosts Henry County on Friday and heads to Rockcastle County on Saturday. Trimble, now 5-15 overall, 2-5 in the NCKC and 2-4 in district play, travels to Eminence on Friday and heads to Ryle on Monday.

Trimble girls play best game of season in 62-55 win

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Trimble County coach Kerrie Stewart has been telling people for weeks that her team was close to getting over the hump and on Tuesday the Raiders proved it.

Trimble County started fast and ended strong to knock off rival Carroll County 62-55 in girls basketball, ending the Raiders' 11-game losing streak. Other than free throws, the Raiders did everything they needed to do to pick up the crucial district win and keep their regional hopes alive.

"I'm so super proud of them. We did really well in our transition offense and did a much better job of pushing the ball, running the floor and making good decisions," Stewart said. "And when they made their run and cut it, we showed some maturity tonight in our decision-making. We weren't perfect by any stretch of the imagination, but boy, from where we started, we have come so far."

Trimble's young roster has struggled with consistency all season but on Tuesday played its most complete game. After jumping out to an early 11-5 lead, the Raiders found themselves down 20-17 early in the second quarter after Carroll's Courtney Strickland drilled a 3-pointer.

But every time Carroll hit a big shot, Trimble answered and an 8-2 closing run in the second quarter staked the Raiders to a 34-28 halftime lead. Trimble led 48-39 going into the third period after the Raiders' Addison Edmondson broke loose for seven-straight points.

Trimble put the game into the deep freeze from there on, milking the clock and forcing Carroll to defend. The Panthers used a near-perfect performance from the free-throw line — where they were 14-for-16 for the game — to chip into the lead. After trailing 51-40 early in the fourth quarter, Carroll closed to within 55-50 on a Kaitlyn Hensley basket with 2:03 to go.

Trimble spent the rest of the game at the free-throw line and although the Raiders were just 7-of-13 from the stripe down the stretch, it was enough to hold off the Panthers, who managed just five points the rest of the way.

"I'm just so proud of them tonight because it's hard to stay true and to stay committed and to keep working when you don't see the Ws coming but they have managed to do that," Stewart said. "I couldn't ask for much more tonight, other than to maybe hit a few more free throws down the stretch and a little less stress."

To say that Carroll coach Hannah Devine was frustrated after the game would be an understatement. The Panthers had just been released from COVID quarantine on Tuesday and had not practiced or met as a team since last week. She blamed many of Carroll's woes on a lack of reps.

"That's what happens when you have four days off. No practice at all, just jumping right into a game with no preparation," Devine said. "I'm just frustrated but everybody is dealing with the same thing and I have so much respect for Kerrie. But it's frustrating."

Edmondson finished with a career-high 26 points to lead Trimble County while Peyton Butters scored 12 points, Danielle Craig scored nine and Gracie Jent had six.

Hensley scored 22 points before fouling out late in the game and Strickland scored 11 for Carroll. Grace Perkins came off the bench to score nine points and Reagan Matthews had seven.

The game could have huge implications in the battle for seeding in the 31st District Tournament. With Eminence calling off the rest of its varsity season, the district is down to just five teams and Stewart said that avoiding top seeded Owen County could be a key to success.

This keeps our hopes alive when it comes to district tournament play. We we had to have this in order to have any chance at all of avoiding Owen County in an opening round or a second round," said Stewart. "It's still going to be dependent upon what some other teams do. But we did what we can control tonight to give ourselves that opportunity."

Trimble, now 2-16 overall, 1-5 in the North Central Kentucky Conference and 1-4 in the 31st District, heads to Walton-Verona on Saturday. Carroll, now 6-9 overall, 2-3 in the NCKC and 2-2 in the district, hosts Henry County on Thursday and travels to Pendleton County on Saturday.

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Switzerland County nearly pulled off the upset before falling 49-48 at Class 1A No. 5 Jac-Cen-Del in girls basketball on Tuesday.

After trailing 13-12 after the first quarter and 28-26 at halftime, Switzerland County used a 15-point third quarter to forge ahead 41-36 heading into the final frame. But Jac-Cen-Del regrouped and was able to pull out the one-point win.

Maddie Duvall led the Pacers with 14 points while Jessie Duvall had 11 points and four rebounds, and Nora Hankins had 11 points.

Switzerland, now 13-5 overall, falls to 3-1 in Ohio River Valley Conference. The Pacers host South Decatur today in a contest where the junior varsity will play only two quarters and varsity will begin about 7 p.m. Switzerland will then host Rising Sun next Tuesday.

COLD TOPPERS FALL AT NEW WASH

Shawe's offense went cold in the middle quarters and the Hilltoppers suffered a 54-25 loss at New Washington in girls basketball on Tuesday.

Shawe trailed only 11-8 after the first quarter but managed only six points over the next 16 minutes.

By the time the fourth quarter started, the Hilltoppers were down 32-14 and New Washington pulled away in the fourth for the win.

Allison Knoebel scored 12 points for Shawe, which shot just 21% (10-for-47) from the floor and went 3-for-22 on 3-point attempts.

Ava Turner added five points, and Yolett Perez and Harlee Hill scored four each.

Kaiden James had 22 points for New Washington.

Shawe, now 7-8 on the season, hosts Clarksville on Saturday and travels to Crothersville on Monday.

CAM BOYS FALL TO LAUREL

Over the weekend, the Defenders finished second in the Southern Roads Conference Tournament after losing to Union (Dugger) in the championship game.

D-line thin as Bengals prepare for Tennessee

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — After the Bengals won a playoff game for the first time in three decades last Saturday, coach Zac Taylor and a few players delivered game balls to three Cincinnati sports bars as a way of thanking fans who stuck with them through the bad times.

"I think the city can finally exhale," Taylor said after the Bengals (11-7) beat the Las Vegas Raiders 26-19 in a wild-card game that wasn't decided until Cincinnati linebacker Germaine Pratt intercepted Derek Carr with 17 seconds left.

Fans might be breathing easier, but Taylor and Bengals players can't.

They have to get ready for the AFC's top-seeded Tennessee Titans (12-5) on the road in the divisional round on Saturday. And Cincinnati may have to do it without starting defensive linemen Trey Hendrickson and Larry Ogunjobi. Hendrickson is in the concussion protocol and Ogunjobi was placed on injured reserve Monday.

That duo teamed up for a huge play in the first quarter when Hendrickson had a strip-sack of Carr and Ogunjobi scooped the fumble and returned it to the Las Vegas 15. The Bengals got a field goal out of the drive to push their lead to 10-3.

The Bengals scored on four first-half possessions, and the defense had to bow up and hold the Raiders to a pair of field goals in the second. Evan McPherson became the first rookie kicker in NFL history to hit four field goals without a miss in his playoff debut.

Joe Burrow was 24 for 34 for 244 yards and two touchdowns. Ja'Marr Chase, a leading contender for Offensive Rookie of the Year, had nine catches for 116 yards — his sixth game this season with at least 100 receiving yards.

"The whole second half we needed to put points on the board and we kept kicking field goals instead of scoring touchdowns, and it was disappointing," Burrow said. "But we were moving the ball and scoring field goals, so you can't be too mad about it. But obviously, we need to execute better."

WHAT'S WORKING

A little luck. The Bengals were on the right end of a controversial call by officials that tilted the game. Late in the first half with Cincinnati leading 13-6, Burrow rolled right to avoid pressure and threw from close to the sideline. Play continued despite an erroneous whistle by an official, who thought Burrow stepped out of bounds. Tyler Boyd caught the 10-yard pass in the back of the end zone for a 20-6 lead. The Raiders protested, citing the rule that the ball should be returned to the previous spot, but the play counted. The NFL stood by the call.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

Finishing drives. The Bengals made five trips to the red zone and got just two touchdowns out of it, one on the questionable call by officials. Fortunately, McPherson, doesn't miss much. He was perfect on field goals of 31, 30, 43 and 28 yards.

STOCK UP

Pratt has been known all season as the guy most focused on getting turnovers in practice. So it was fitting he would get the interception that sealed the game. The third-year linebacker read Carr's eyes and picked off his pass at the Bengals 2 as the Raiders were driving for a tying score in the final seconds.

STOCK DOWN

Pro-Bowl running back Joe Mixon had one of his best games of the season against the Raiders in Week 11, rushing for 123 yards and two touchdowns in a 32-13 Bengals win. He wasn't as big a factor Saturday, averaging only 2.8 yards on 17 attempts for 48 yards.

KEY INJURIES

The Bengals put Ogunjobi (right foot) on IR. Hendrickson, the team's sack leader, is day to day. Also on Monday, Cincinnati returned G Xavier Su'a-Filo to the active roster from injured reserve. He started the first two games but has been out with a knee injury since Oct. 9.

KEY NUMBER

385 — yards allowed by the Bengals. The defense bent but didn't break, as the Raiders scored just one touchdown on five trips to the red zone.

NEXT STEPS

The defensive line depth will be tested as the Titans are expected to get back RB Derrick Henry. He hasn't played since breaking his right foot in Week 8. Burrow and Chase have to keep up the spectacular connection. Burrow has completed nearly 80% of passes thrown Chase's way in the past three weeks.

'Joey Franchise' is toast of Cincy as team advances

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — The Bengals won a playoff game for the first time in three decades in the wild-card round, however it was difficult to tell by looking at Joe Burrow sitting at the podium afterward behind rose-colored Cartier shades.

"I mean it's exciting, but this was expected," the Cincinnati quarterback shrugged after the 26-19 win over the Las Vegas Raiders last week. "This isn't like the icing on top of the cake or anything — this is the cake. So we're moving on."

Swaggering on, is more like it.

"Joey Franchise" will now try to get the Bengals (11-7) over another hump as they seek their first road playoff win in team history Saturday at Nashville against the Tennessee Titans (12-5).

Cincinnati is 0-7 on the road in the postseason going back to 1970.

Regardless of what happens, it's difficult to overstate Burrow's value to the organization. He's turned out to be the combination of confidence, work ethic, leadership and guts the downtrodden Bengals sought when they drafted him first overall in 2020.

"We trust in Joe," coach Zac Taylor said. "The more I've been around, I've learned to just shut my mouth and let the magic occur."

A single astounding play from Cincinnati's win over the Raiders showed Burrow's keen ability to see the field and calculate risk vs. reward in the blink of an eye.

Late in the first half, the Bengals had a third-and-4 from the Raiders 10. Burrow took a shotgun snap, stepped forward as the pocket collapsed and then scrambled right with defensive tackle Quinton Jefferson on his tail.

With no receivers open, he might have run out of bounds or thrown it away so Evan McPherson could come on for a chip-shot field goal.

But at the 11-yard line, Burrow pushed off with his right foot into the air and released the ball a split-second before his momentum carried him out of bounds. Tyler Boyd made the catch at the back of the end zone.

The Raiders argued that the official on the sideline thought Burrow went out of bounds and blew the play dead. After a replay, the touchdown was allowed to stand, and the Bengals were up by two scores.

In Joe we trust.

"Plays like that, you can't explain," Taylor said. "It's making a play when there's no play to be made."

Tennessee coach Mike Vrabel can see for himself.

"(He) just has a really good feel for making all of the throws," Vrabel said. "He is very elusive in the pocket. He takes care of the football. They do a lot with him. He is operating from the line of scrimmage sometimes and getting them into the right call."

Burrow won the 2019 Heisman Trophy and national championship at LSU.

He flashed potential in 2020 before tearing up his left knee in the 10th game of Cincinnati's dismal 4-11-1 season.

He had surgery and spent the spring and summer rehabbing.

He still wasn't back to 100% as the season began. But as his knee got better, Burrow got better. He shattered franchise records and re-established chemistry with former LSU teammate Ja'Marr Chase, the Bengals' first-round pick in 2021 who also broke team receiving records on the way to becoming a contender for Offensive Rookie of the Year.

"He's playing tremendous football," Chase said. "I don't think he's playing any different from when he was playing in 2019 (at LSU). He's just getting smarter as he goes on."

Calderon joins IndyCar as 1st woman to drive for Foyt

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tatiana Calderon will drive for AJ Foyt Racing this season as the first woman to compete regularly in the IndyCar Series since 2013.

The Colombian will drive a third Indy car for Foyt on the street and road courses alongside Dalton Kellett and Indy Lights champion Kyle Kirkwood. A driver for the oval races in the No. 11 was not announced Monday.

Calderon will be sponsored by ROKiT Group, a media company that has also committed to sponsoring fellow rookie Kirkwood this season.

IndyCar has not had a female driver consistently compete in the series since Simona de Silvestro in 2013, although de Silvestro did run the Indy 500 last season for a team comprised primarily of women.

Calderon becomes the first woman to compete for Foyt, the iconic four-time Indianapolis 500 winner who turned 87 on Sunday. Foyt was one of the very few who showed grace to Janet Guthrie when she became the first woman to run the Indy 500 almost 50 years ago.

Batum scores season-high 32 as Clippers beat Pacers 139-133

BY BETH HARRIS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES — Nicolas Batum scored all of his season-high 32 points in the second half, Reggie Jackson added 26 points and the Los Angeles Clippers beat the Indiana Pacers 139-133 on Monday in a matchup of sub-.500 teams.

Marcus Morris had 21 points for the Clippers, who snapped a two-game skid with their highest-scoring game of the season. Batum and Jackson combined to score 33 of their team's 35 points in the fourth.

"I didn't do anything crazy, I was just wide-open," Batum said. "I just played off of those guys and made some shots."

Caris LeVert had 26 points and nine rebounds before fouling out with 28 seconds to play and the Pacers down by five. Chris Duarte added 24 points, seven rebounds and six assists as seven Pacers scored in double figures. They've lost four in a row and 10 of 11.

The Pacers got within three with 30 seconds left on LeVert's basket after trailing by 13 earlier in the fourth. But Jackson scored the Clippers' final seven points to close out the win.

"His pace was really good, attacking and getting downhill," Clippers coach Tyronn Lue said. "His pace is what really changed the game for us."

The Clippers have struggled offensively of late, but they shot 55% from the floor and as a team made 18 3-pointers.

"It's great to play like that," Batum said. "Everybody is touching the ball and everybody's shooting."

Down 19 points in the third, the Pacers made a run to start the fourth. They scored 10 in a row and later cut their deficit to 109-102 on a wide-open dunk by Goga Bitadze, who finished with a career-high 17 points.

Batum hit his fifth 3-pointer of the game and Jackson scored eight in a row to keep the Clippers ahead by 12. Batum had a season-high seven 3-pointers.

Batum kept up his run, reeling off 12 in a row, but Duarte hit a 3 and LeVert scored six in a row to threaten until the final seconds.

"Batum had a spectacular game," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said.

The Clippers stretched their lead to double digits in the third. Batum scored 14 in the quarter, hitting back-to-back 3-pointers. A basket by Isaiah Hartenstein gave them their largest lead of the game, 98-79. Terance Mann scored their final six points to send the Clippers into the fourth leading 104-90.

The Clippers led by 16 points in a 40-point first quarter and were up by 15 in the second when the Pacers briefly grabbed the momentum.

"Giving up 40 in the first quarter was a real killer," Carlisle said. "The rest of the way we did quite a few good things, but that put us up against it."

Indiana used an 18-4 run — including 13 in a row with six by LeVert and five by Duarte — to close within one. The Clippers recovered with a 10-2 run to lead 68-59 at halftime.

TIP-INS

Clippers: It was Batum's highest-scoring game since he had 33 against Portland on Nov. 15, 2015, and his most points and 3-pointers as a Clipper. He missed tying his career high by three points. Luke Kennard is still working his way back after being in health protocols.

Pacers lose Turner for at least two weeks with injured foot

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS The Indiana Pacers expect center Myles Turner to miss at least the next two weeks with an injured left foot.

Team officials announced Tuesday that the 6-foot-11 Turner was examined by multiple specialists who diagnosed him with a "stress reaction."

Turner will get treatment and be re-evaluated in two weeks, the Pacers said.

He has been one of the league's top shot-blockers since the Pacers selected him in the first round of the 2015 draft, winning last season's blocks title.

This season, Turner was averaging 12.9 points, 7.1 rebounds and 2.8 blocks in 42 games.

He missed Monday's game against the Los Angeles Clippers with what the team described as a sore left foot and ankle.

Turner also has been rumored to be on the trading bloc for several years. This year's NBA trade deadline is Feb. 10.

No. 4 Purdue tops No. 17 Illinois in double OT

BY GAVIN GOOD
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Sasha Stefanovic scored 22 points, including a go-ahead 3 at the start of double overtime that sent No. 4 Purdue over No. 17 Illinois 96-88 on Monday.

Illinois guards Andre Curbelo and Alfonso Plummer made baskets in the final seconds of regulation and the first overtime before the Boilermakers (15-2, 4-2 Big Ten) broke away.

Purdue hit four straight shots to take an 89-83 lead with 1:03 left in double overtime. Eric Hunter Jr. had two of those baskets.

Stefanovic went 5 of 8 on 3-point tries and also had eight rebounds. His last-second shot from long range fell short as the regulation buzzer sounded.

"They're the best basketball team we've played," Illinois coach Brad Underwood said. "And then I thought Sasha was elite today. We've done a pretty good job on him for the most part the last few years, and today he was the difference."

Plummer led the Illini (13-4, 6-1) with 24 points, shooting 6 of 12 on 3s. His layup with 9 seconds left in the first overtime made it 78-all.

Curbelo, who had missed 11 games after being injured, had 20 points, six rebounds and three assists. His basket with 14 seconds remaining in regulation tied it at 69.

Boilermakers center Zach Edey was effective, especially early on, finishing with 20 points on 9-for-14 shooting to go along with eight rebounds. He also helped limit Kofi Cockburn to 10 points on 3-of-9 shooting in 22 minutes before the Illinois center fouled out early in the first overtime.

"I thought (Edey) embraced the physicality of the game," Purdue coach Matt Painter said. "He didn't turn the ball over, which was great, and he was ready to play. That's the whole thing. If you can establish your big man and really get them in a bind, that helps out everything."

Purdue guard Jaden Ivey struggled to hit shots, going 3 of 10, but made 13 of 15 free throws to finish with 19 points and eight rebounds.

Illinois trailed for most of the first overtime period, but Curbelo made a turnaround jumper and Plummer had a layup to force a second overtime.

Edey was a factor early on, scoring 14 points on 6-of-7 shooting in the first half. The Boilermakers took an 11-point lead into the break, but back-to-back 3-pointers from Plummer and Da'Monte Williams helped Illinois close the deficit to 39-34 with 17:43 to play.

"This win just gives you confidence that you can go into a hornet's nest and be up against it a couple times and find a way to make a play, get a stop or get a rebound or make your free throws like we did at the end," Painter said. "Our guys hung in there."

BIG PICTURE

Purdue: Boilermakers are 3-1 this season against AP Top 25 opponents, while Illinois is 0-2 against ranked teams. ... The Boilermakers have won seven of their last eight games since an upset loss at Rutgers on Dec. 9. ... Purdue and Illinois meet again in West Lafayette, Indiana, on Feb. 10.

Illinois: The return of Curbelo was a welcome development for the Illini.His ability to penetrate and get to the hoop gives Underwood's offense more dynamism in addition to Cockburn and perimeter shooters such as Plummer and Trent Frazier, who scored 16 in the loss. ... The Illini remain in first place in the Big Ten, and there's another conference contender coming to town next week in Michigan State on Jan. 25.

Joe B. Hall, who led Kentucky to 1978 NCAA title, dies at 93

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Joe B. Hall took on the steep challenge of following a legend and created his own successful legacy.

Hall, who succeeded Adolph Rupp and guided Kentucky to a national championship in 1978, has died. He was 93.

The program announced Hall's death in a social media post Saturday morning after the coach's family notified current Wildcats coach John Calipari. Hall and Calipari were close, and Hall was a a frequent presence at Kentucky practices and games. The retired coach would sometimes provide the "Y" when cheerleaders spelled out the state name during timeouts.

Calipari, who led Kentucky to the program's eighth national title in 2012, called Hall "my friend, my mentor and an icon in our state and in our profession" in a series of tweets. He said he visited Hall this week and added that the coach squeezed his hand tightly as Calipari prayed for him.

A moment of silence was held for Hall in Rupp Arena before No. 18 Kentucky faced 22nd-ranked rival Tennessee on Saturday. Spectators applauded during a video tribute that included interviews with the coach before fading to black with the words "Joe B. Hall Forever a Wildcat."

Hall went 297-100 in 13 years with Kentucky. Born 20 miles north of the Lexington campus in Cynthiana, the former UK player and longtime assistant to Rupp assumed the monumental task of succeeding his boss in 1972 after Rupp was forced to retire because he turned 70.

The Wildcats were 20-8 in Hall's first season but followed that with a 13-13 campaign, their worst record in 50 years. He eventually guided them back to national prominence and college basketball's pinnacle six years later.

Led by Kevin Grevey, Jimmy Dan Conner and Rick Robey, Kentucky reached the Final Four in 1975, its first appearance since 1966. The Wildcats lost the championship game 92-85 to UCLA in coach John Wooden's final game with the Bruins.

Three years later, Hall and Kentucky earned another banner to hang from the rafters of Rupp Arena, which was named after the longtime coach and opened in 1976.

The Wildcats went 30-2 and won their first NCAA title in 20 years, beating Duke 94-88 in St. Louis behind 41 points from Jack "Goose" Givens. It was Kentucky's fifth championship and first in 20 years. More than 10,000 fans greeted the returning team at Blue Grass Airport.

The program also reached the Final Four in 1984, losing to Georgetown in the national semifinals. Hall retired a year later at age 57.

Tough as it was to succeed Rupp — who won 876 games in 41 years as Kentucky's coach — Hall said following the example set by the "Baron of the Bluegrass" made it possible.

"I fell in love with the Kentucky program before I came here as a student and played under coach Rupp, came back and assisted him for seven years," Hall told The Associated Press in 2017. "I was infused with a spirit that made some players work harder. And I think it made me work harder."

Hall coached 24 players who were drafted into the NBA, including five first-round selections. He was named the national coach of the year in 1978 and Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year four times. Seven of his players earned All-American honors 11 times.

During Saturday's pregame radio show, Givens described Hall as tough and demanding. But the former All-American added that his coach "had a tremendous ability to find the right button and get the most out of everybody. And that's what he did for me as a player."

The bespectacled coach who wore a bright checkered sport coat on the sidelines is immortalized with a statue outside the players' dormitory that depicts him sitting on a folding chair with a tight grip on a game program.

Calipari squeezed a rolled-up program on Saturday to honor his mentor, and the Wildcats opened against the Volunteers in Hall's trademark 1-3-1 defense.

Hall's homespun manner and Southern drawl were on display for several years during a daily morning radio show he hosted with rival and former Louisville coach Denny Crum. The men often discussed their love of fishing, hunting and, of course, basketball. Though they needled each other about the intense Bluegrass rivalry, there was also mutual respect and admiration of each other's successes and particularly the struggles to build their programs.

Hall played for Rupp and the Wildcats briefly in the 1940s before transferring to the University of the South. He toured Europe with the Harlem Globetrotters in 1951, returned to UK and graduated in 1955.

His coaching career began at Shepherdsville High School in 1956. He went on to coach at Regis College in Denver, going 57-50 over five seasons, and at Central Missouri State, where he went 19-6 in 1965. Rupp hired Hall as an assistant in July of that year.

Jackson-Davis leads Indiana to rare road win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, Neb. — Trayce Jackson-Davis had 23 points and 12 rebounds for his fourth straight double-double and Indiana defeated Nebraska 78-71 on Monday night, a rare road win for the Hoosiers.

The win was the first on the road for the Hoosiers, who had lost their first four road games this season and eight in a row dating to last season.

Indiana never trailed but the Hoosiers' lead was just 59-55 with 10:31 to go. Jackson-Davis scored the next six points and the Hoosiers matched their largest lead of the game at 65-55.

Nebraska was never down by more than 10 points but in the final 10 minutes the Cornhuskers did not get closer than six until Alonzo Verge Jr. made a layup with five seconds left to make it 76-71. Indiana's Xavier Johnson added two free throws for the final margin.

Jackson-Davis, who averages 19.3 ppg and 8.9 rpg, made 10 of 16 shots to help secure his 30th career double-double. Race Thompson scored 12 points and Jordan Geronimo 10 for Indiana (13-4, 4-3 Big Ten).

Bryce McGowens led Nebraska (6-13, 0-8) with 20 points and Verge added 19.

Indiana, which had struggled with ball control recently and had 23 turnovers in last week's loss to Iowa, had only seven turnovers with about 10 minutes to go but finished with 14 giveaways to Nebraska's 13.

Minnesota-PSU men postponed; Indiana women push back 2 games

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS — Minnesota has become the latest Big Ten team with a COVID-19 problem.

The Gophers announced Tuesday they were postponing their Wednesday game at Penn State because the team had fallen below the conference minimum of seven available scholarship players.

The rescheduled date has not yet been determined.

When Minnesota lost at home Sunday to Iowa, four players were missing due to virus protocols, illness or injury, and the absence list grew after testing Monday. The Gophers are next scheduled to play Saturday at home against Rutgers.

On the women's side, sixth-ranked Indiana postponed two games this week — Wednesday against Michigan State and Sunday against No. 25 Iowa — because of COVID-19 protocols within the program.

The Hoosiers have had four games postponed or canceled over the last month.

Their next scheduled game is Jan. 27 against Illinois.

Burrell, Green lead No. 5 Lady Vols over No. 19 Kentucky

BY AL LESAR
ASSOCIATED PRESS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Beating No. 19 Kentucky by 26 points would normally be a reason for a giddy celebration on Rocky Top.

But after Sunday's 84-58 Southeastern Conference victory, No. 5 Tennessee was somewhat subdued and cautious about the future rather than elated about the present.

Rae Burrell scored 11 of her 14 points in the second quarter and Keyen Green battled inside for 14 points and seven rebounds for the fifth-ranked Lady Volunteers (17-1, 6-0). Tennessee is the only team still unbeaten in the SEC.

It was a second-quarter right ankle injury to 6-foot-6 standout Tamari Key, however, that dampened the win.

"There's something about this team," Tennessee coach Kellie Harper said. "When adversity is in front of us, we don't flinch."

The Lady Vols, off to their best start since a national championship run in 2007-08, weathered a dozen games without Burrell after she sustained a knee injury.

Harper had no indication on how long Key might be missing, but she's looking for Green, a 6-1 fifth-year player, to fill a void.

"Whenever Tamari would go to the bench, we've got a player (in Green) who can be a go-to player," Harper said. "She is so explosive. She's a different look than Tamari. She plays aggressive and very strong."

Green had six of Tennessee's 21 offensive rebounds to grab an edge on Kentucky (8-5, 1-2).

"Offensive boards (a 21-6 Lady Vols edge), they hit some (3-pointers) — game over," Wildcats coach Kyra Elzy said.

The Wildcats led 17-11 after the first quarter. Burrell hit three 3-pointers and the Tennessee defense held Kentucky to just 33% shooting as the Lady Vols went ahead for good at 38-27 by halftime.

"We played with better energy," Harper said of the second quarter. "We got to the boards and started making shots.

Jordan Horston scored 11 points to help make up for Key's absence. Jordan Walker contributed 10 points.

Alexus Dye, Green and Horston each had seven rebounds. Even without Key, Tennessee dominated the boards, 50-29.

Rhyne Howard led the Wildcats (8-5, 1-2) with 24 points and Jazmine Massengill added 13 points.

WE BACK PAT

All 14 Southeastern Conference schools will play home games this week supporting the "We Back Pat" initiative. The special festivities are in conjunction with The Pat Summitt Foundation Fund's mission to combat early-onset dementia, the disease that claimed the famed Tennessee women's basketball coach. Harper and Elzy, who both played for Summitt, gave donations of $10,000 to the cause.

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky: The Wildcats' Jan. 6 win over No. 15 Georgia was the first time they had the entire squad healthy and available to play since mid-December. ... Former Tennessee player Kyra Elzy (1999-2001) is in her second year as Kentucky's head coach.

Tennessee: Little by little, Burrell is increasing her role since missing most of the first half of the season after a knee injury in the opener. ... The Lady Vols came into the game giving up the fewest points per game (52.5) of any team in the league.

NEXT UP

Kentucky: Thursday's home game with Florida will be a welcome relief for the Wildcats. Because its game with Mississippi State last Thursday was postponed because of COVID-19 issues, Kentucky ended up playing back-to-back Top 5 opponents — No. 1 South Carolina and No. 5 Tennessee.

Tennessee: The Lady Vols have a week off before returning to action at No. 15 Georgia next Sunday.

Gonzaga back at No. 1 in AP Top 25; Auburn up to No. 2

BY JOHN MARSHALL
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

A wild week of upsets led to big changes in the AP Top 25. Amid the chaos, a familiar team returned to the top.

Preseason No. 1 Gonzaga climbed back atop The Associated Press men's college basketball poll on Monday, ending Baylor's five-week run. The Bulldogs had 25 first-place votes, 11 fewer than No. 2 Auburn, but edged the Tigers in overall points to take the top spot.

Auburn has its highest ranking since reaching No. 2 in 1999-2000 after moving up two spots. Arizona, Purdue and Baylor rounded out the top five.

Gonzaga (14-2, 3-0 West Coast) continued its roll since losing to Alabama on Dec. 4, stretching its winning streak to seven games with blowouts over BYU and Santa Clara last week.

The rest of the AP Top 25 didn't fare quite as well, with 13 teams losing, including nine on Saturday. Eight teams fell to unranked opponents.

Baylor's tenure at the top ended with losses to No. 18 Texas Tech and Oklahoma State. It was the first time the Bears lost consecutive home games in nearly six years and ended the reigning national champions' winning streak at 21 games.

No. 16 Southern California also saw its undefeated season come to a crashing end with losses to Stanford and Oregon sandwiched around a win over Oregon State. Seton Hall dropped out of the poll from No. 20 after losing to DePaul and Marquette.

"They're not very happy," Bears senior Matthew Mayer said when asked the mood of the Baylor coaches.

Neither are UCLA's. The Bruins climbed to No. 3 in last week's poll and dropped six spots this week after losing 84-81 to Oregon in overtime. The win was the 700th of Ducks coach Dana Altman's career and dropped UCLA six spots to No. 9 in this week's poll.

"You're either humbled and hungry like they were trying to pull off the so-called upset, or you're arrogant without cause because we've won nothing," an incensed UCLA coach Mick Cronin said.

Arizona wasn't expected to be among the Pac-12's elite in its first season under coach Tommy Lloyd, picked to finish tied for fourth in the preseason poll.

The Wildcats (14-1, 4-0 Pac-12) have surpassed those expectations and put themselves among the nation's top teams with a free-flowing offense that can beat teams in multiple ways.

The nation's highest-scoring team shot 51% and had 20 assists on 29 field goals in a 76-55 win over Colorado last Thursday. The Wildcats then overpowered Utah inside, outscoring the Utes 56-28 in the paint during an 82-64 win on Saturday.

Arizona climbed three spots in this week's poll to No. 3, its highest ranking since reaching No. 2 in 2017-18.

"Obviously, they're very, very talented, play super connected and are super athletic," Utah coach Craig Smith said.

No. 17 Illinois had the week's biggest climb, moving up eight spots after beating Nebraska and Michigan. No. 12 Kentucky climbed six spots after beating Vanderbilt 78-66 and blowing out No. 24 Tennessee 107-79.

No. 8 Wisconsin moved up five places following a 78-68 win over No. 19 Ohio State.

No. 16 USC had the biggest drop, losing 11 places and UCLA was next at six.
